Press Release

JBuddy™ Messenger v3.0 released - adds Enterprise Instant Messaging features and eases deployment and support requirements.

JBuddy Messenger v3.0, Zion Software's cross-platform unified communications enterprise instant messaging client adds new buddy list management and enterprise instant messaging features to ease IT Department strain and business user instant messaging overload.

Glastonbury, Connecticut - March 24, 2009 – Privately-held Zion Software, LLC today announced the release of JBuddy™ Messenger v3.0, a commercially supported, multi-protocol, cross-platform enterprise instant messaging desktop client solution. In addition to a major overhaul of the Buddy List, JBuddy Messenger v3.0 adds support for enterprise instant messaging features including a powerful chat log browser, chat search engine, and spell checking. Further, v3.0 improves support for Microsoft LCS 2005, XMPP-based servers, and IBM Lotus Sametime v8.02 and introduces support for Microsoft Office Live Communications Server (OCS) 2007.

“With JBuddy Messenger v3.0, we tried to add value for both end-users and IT departments. For IT Departments, v3.0 brings simplified deployment and support requirements in a cross-platform unified communications desktop instant messenger. For business users leveraging public instant messengers and enterprise instant messaging applications, it becomes a real challenge to stay on top of all chat conversations. JBuddy Messenger v3.0 brings powerful buddy list management and chat log browsing and search capabilities which greatly reduces instant messaging overload.” said David Ferrero, Founder and CTO, Zion Software.
